

MERCURIA

Conflict Minerals Statement

Mercuria is committed to sourcing products from companies that share our values in respect of human rights, ethics and environmental responsibility. We expect our partners to comply with the Mercuria Code of Conduct.

The mining of certain minerals in the Democratic Republic of Congo (“DRC”) and the adjoining countries is known to contribute to human rights abuses and the financing of violent conflicts in the region.

Conflict minerals (known as 3TG) are tin, tungsten, tantalum, and gold.

Mercuria endeavors to not purchase any materials that contain these conflict minerals which directly or indirectly finance armed groups in this region. We have implemented due diligence processes to ensure we fully understand the supply chain and our suppliers in this region and in these products.

We will continue to work with stakeholders, our suppliers and due diligence service providers to ensure the execution of this commitment.
